

code-reader complex attachment to other components in nucleus, leading to gene expression, gene silencing, or other biological function